Virtual Event: March 10th
Supply Chain Security Summit

Join the fully immersive virtual event as we examine the current state of supply chain attacks, the weakest links along the way, the biggest supply chain hacks in history, and best practices for managing this massive attack surface.

Register Now

Inside the Ransomware Economy
The ransomware threat could still become more pervasive over the next two to three years, not because ransomware is effective in and of itself but because of other players in the game continue to fan the flames.

Read the Full Column by Tim Bandos

Recent Headlines

Suspected Chinese Hackers Target Power Plants in India: Researchers spotted a suspected Chinese APT actor targeting a wide range of critical infrastructure targets in India, including power plants, electricity distribution centers and Indian seaports.

Read More

Asian Food Giant Hit by Ransomware: Asian food distributor JFC International says its IT systems were briefly disrupted by a ransomware attack.

Read More

Cybersecurity M&A Round-Up for February 2021: Many cybersecurity-related mergers and acquisitions were announced in February 2021, including by Akamai, Proofpoint, SentinelOne, Tenable, CrowdStrike and Palo Alto Networks.

Read More

Auth0 Names Jameeka Green Aaron as CISO
Identity-as-a-Service (IDaaS) company Auth0 announced on Monday that Jameeka Green Aaron has joined the company as Chief Information Security Officer (CISO).

Read More

Data Privacy Startup TripleBlind Raises $8.2 Million in Seed Funding: TripleBlind, a startup that provides a de-identification and data privacy solution, announced raising $8.2 million in seed funding.

Read More

Boat Building Giant Beneteau Says Cyberattack Disrupted Production: The company was forced to shut down all systems to prevent malware from Securing Today's Networks Requires Consolidation and Collaboration
Security tools, regardless of where they have been deployed, need to be able leverage common security intelligence feeds and share alerts and threat data with other security tools. Read the Full Column by John Maddison

Is Your Suppliers' Security Your Business?
Supply chain cyber risk is complicated and spans the entire lifecycle of a product—across design, manufacturing, distribution, storage, and maintenance. Read the Full Column by Yaniv Vardi

Protecting Against Vaccine-Themed Attacks and Misinformation
Over the coming weeks, we must be vigilant as there will be a glut of activity and misinformation from cybercriminals wanting to disrupt the COVID-19 vaccine rollout. Read the Full Column by Laurence Pitt

Elevate the Value of Threat Intelligence in the SOC
The center of gravity of the Security Operations Center (SOC) used to be the SIEM, but this is shifting as the mission of the SOC shifts to become a detection and response organization. Read the Full Column by Marc Solomon

Actions Enterprises Can Take to Combat Common Fraud Types
Josh Goldfarb discusses what enterprises can do to mitigate risk and limit losses account takeover (ATO) fraud, account opening (AO) fraud, and payment fraud. Read the Full Column by Joshua Goldfarb

Virtual Event: March 10th
Supply Chain Security Summit

Join the fully immersive virtual event as we examine the current state of supply chain attacks, the weakest links along the way, the biggest supply chain hacks in history, and best practices for managing this massive attack surface.

Register Now

See All Recent Articles at SecurityWeek.Com

identify indicators of compromise (IoCs) associated with Solorigate. Read More

Unprotected Private Key Allows Remote Hacking of Rockwell Controllers: A critical authentication bypass vulnerability can be exploited by hackers to remotely compromise Rockwell controllers. Read More

TikTok owner ByteDance to pay $92M in US privacy Settlement: TikTok’s Chinese parent company ByteDance has agreed to pay $92 million in a settlement to U.S. users who are part of a class-action lawsuit alleging that the video-sharing app failed to get their consent to collect data. Read More

To help make sure the SecurityWeek Briefing reaches you, please add news@securityweek.com to your address book.

© 2020 Wired Business Media